The appropriate extension fee under 37 CFR 1.17(a) is calculated from: (1) the expiration date of the shortened statutory period for reply originally set in the final Office action; or (2) as set forth in (b) above, if checked. Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of the final rejection, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b). Continuation of 13. Other: the applicant argued in his remarks

1) that Hultgren the customer communicates directly with the telephone 30 and therefore is simply not necessary for the customer to provide a customer ID to the merchant

2) Hultgren does not teach "the customer selecting a payment method and transmitting the selected payment method to the settlement house"

The Examiner maintains that both of these steps are inherent in the prior art reference. In addition, the examiner would like to express that both of these steps are so well know that they both are Official Notice. Not only would one of ordinarly skill in art at the time of the invention know both of these steps any American with a credit card would know that when they swipe there card at a grocery store the credit card number (or customer identifier) is transmitted from the merchant (the grocery store) to the settlement house (VISA - or what ever company the card goes through) for payment. In addition, after swiping their card they need to select credit or debit (payment method) which also goes to the settlement house.
